NEW-BORN BABE IS WIDELY TRAVELED

Infant, Given Up by Mother, Nearly Adopted, But Not Quite.

CAUSES MUCH UNEASINESS

CHILD IS BONE OF CONTENTION AFTER PARENT REPENTS.

While its mother, Mabel Gardner, a domestic at the home of Spencer Clawson, 29 South State street, has been convalescing at Holy Cross hospitai, an infant not old enough to call "manima," or even toddle on its young legs, has shared a bit of the world's uneasiness to the extent that it has had at least three homes and is promised another one, which, after much trouble, may be permanent.

Not more than a couple of days after the child was born Mrs. Anna L. Young of the juvenile court was summoned to Holy Cross hospital, where she was asked by the mother to take the child and find a suitable home. Mrs. Young turned the little one over to the matron at the State street orphanage, and in a very short time a home was found for the infant.

As soon as the child had taken into its new home the foster parents applied to attorneys to have adoption papers drawn up, and the legal formality of adopting the child was about to take place when the mother repented her renunciation of the child and begged that it be re-

Appeals to Police.

The new parents of the babe were so much pleased with it, however, that they refused to relinquish their rights, and Mr. Clawson, interesting himself in behalf of the child's mother, appealed to the police. Slight solace was given him there. In fact, he was advised to look elsewhere for a means of procuring the return of the child to the mother, who, all the time, was at the hospital, her condition growing more and more serious as the time of her separation from her child lengthened.

Finally Mr. Clawson appealed to the foster parents of the babe, but they still refused, until all kinds of trouble appeared on the horizon, and, not wishing to have the notoriety which follow, the foster parents turned the child back to the orphanage, the matron, in turn, delivering the much-traveled infant to the Holy Cross hospital, and, at last reports, the child was again safe in its mother's arms, with fair chance of finding a home in the Clawson family, where the mother is valued as a Policemen Find Six Suits of New Clothes Back of Midway Saloon in South Temple Street.

In a sensational chase of burglar

Just as Patrolman Cassidy saluted Sergeant Johnston at First West and South Temple street two men dashed out of the Oaks rooming house and looking back at the bluecoats ran in the direction of the Midway saloon. One of them drew a revolver as the officers pursued him, but put it back in a coat pocket as he ran into the Midway. The policemen were close at the heels of the suspects who ran out of the back door of the saloon and disappeared.

In searching the premises Sergeant Johnston and Patrolman Cassidy stumbled upon two large bundles which proved to contain new suits of clothes. Bert Bates, age 24 years, was arrested in the vicinity of the saloon shortly after the chase of the burglars, by Patrolman Dan Crowther. He is being held on suspicion.

PATRIARCH WILLIAM TAYLOR LAID TO REST

Impressive funeral services were held in the Big Cottonwood ward house yesterday over the body of William Taylor, the patriarch. Beautiful tributes were paid to the character of Mr. Taylor by President Joseph F. Smith and B. H. Roberts. Others who delivered brief addresses were Thomas Hull, John W. Taylor and Bishop John Neff. Bishop Milo Andrews presided. Music was supplied by the Big Cotton wood choir. Following the services the body was brought to this city, where interment was made in the City cem-

Sergeant J. H. Johnston and Patrol-man Tom Cassidy found six new suits of clothing wrapped in bundles in the rear of the Midway saloon, 169 West South Temple street. They are believed to be a part of the loot taken in the burglary of the Frank Yurka Clothing store at Bountiful Monday night, in which 35 suits of clothes were stolen. ten. On the third and last evening the benefit for the third most popular charity of Salt Lake will take place. This playgrounds benefit seems to be most in demand.

The inauguration of these benefits is the method Frederic Belasco is using taken by the young women to en-deavor to add over $2,000 to the united coffers of the three charities which will co-operate in making the undertaking a success. In addition to the canvass of the city by its fair representatives, the committee and work-ers of each society will focus special attention upon the particular nights in which they are interested.

This undertaking will close the theatrical season in a most gratifying manner, and hearty co-operation upon the part of all public-spirited people advance these most deserving public institutions a great deal in their charitable endeavors.
